SBA * Consulting LTD announces its Real Estate Relocation Serivce

Planning is an essential element in all aspects of the real estate relocation process. Companies need competent internal accounting and project management services to successfully carry off a seamless relocation.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

PRLog (Press Release) - Jun 05, 2012 -
Planning is an essential element in all aspects of the real estate relocation process.

- Finding the right properties to show your clients.
- Finding the right neighborhood.
- Finding the right price point.
- Recommending professionals to assist in the larger real estate relocation process.

Among those professionals that can assist you (by adding value) as well as your client (by performing service they are not equipped to handle themselves) is the sound financial analysis and proper planning, project management and execution of the integral steps involved with the leasing, build out and move to a new space or facility.

SBA * Consulting can provide those services to your client allowing them to enjoy the benefit of financial professionals each who have in excess of 25 years' experience. These Chief Financial Officers have done multiple moves during their tenure and can bring to bear those skill sets to make the move or anticipated leasing opportunity the right decision, based on the facts distilled from you, the real estate broker, the architect and others.
